1. Extensive plans are being made by the Communists to create serious disturbances in Thailand about 10 May 1953. The Communists plan to coordinate this action with the Allied offensive in Korea which they expect to be launched about that time. Minister Fedor P. Dolya and four other Soviet Legation officers will leave Bangkok in early May to avoid Soviet implication in any of the events which will follow. Two high Thai Government officials will be publicly assassinated. This will set off action between the Police and Signal Corps and the Army and Air Force which will be followed by a border incident in the Laos area, inviting Democratic Republic of Vietnam (DRV) participation. Organized Chinese reaction within Thailand will begin, resulting in joint Chinese-Police cooperation to restore and maintain order. The Chinese Communists do not reckon with any local United Nations or United States intervention. The Police-Chinese combination, if well-organized, could overcome all Government resistance within a week.
